Does that mean that
Fr. de Laire now has learned who the
"source" is? That such information is no longer under the protective order?

He actually already knew it was you from the very beginning -
based on details in the article itself

The judge agreed to add you as a plaintiff
- so yes, that means
you will be named.
We tried to fight it, but the judge disagreed

I have never received to date any summons or subpoena in the matter, nor should someone asserted by an adverse party as being a source acting within the ministerial privilege have to. I can't afford to hire a lawyer to defend me, all of my means are going to provide for the medical care of my ailing mother.
